Hunting and trapping seasons and limits for furbearers

This administrative regulation establishes seasons, bag limits, legal methods of take, and checking and recording requirements for hunting and trapping of furbearers.

Significant Changes

This amendment eliminates the existing ten foot spacing requirement between traps set on dry land, amends the definition of “water sets”, eliminates hunter orange clothing requirements for trappers, requires CITES tags to be attached to furbearers upon receipt from the department, requires that river otters and bobcats be telechecked before leaving Kentucky, and adds muzzleloaders as a legal weapon for the taking of furbearers.
